Up in 1912, Down in 1923

RAISED in 1912 and razed in 1923, the first building in Torrance had a checkered career during its short life.

Erected by the Dominguez Land Corporation as an eating house for the first workmen in its building crew, the building later was used as a restaurant by a Chinese.

Following the opening of a boarding house by Mrs. Johnson in the building now occupied by the Torrance Laundry Company, the restaurant went out of business and the building was converted to be the first home of the Torrance Fire Department, housing the original hose wagon.
